TIPS TO PREVENT HOLIDAY STRESS

The Holidays Don't Have To Be Perfect!

Be Realistic. The holidays don't have to be perfect or just like last year. As families change and grow, traditions and rituals often change as well. Choose a few to hold on to, and be open to creating new ones. For example, if your adult children can't come to your house, find new ways to celebrate together, such as sharing pictures, e-mails or videos.

Stick To A Budget. Before you go gift and food shopping, decide how much money you can afford to spend. Then stick to your budget. Don't try to buy happiness with an avalanche of gifts.

Try These Alternatives:

- Donate to a charity in someone's name.
- Give homemade gifts.

Plan Ahead. Set aside specific days for shopping, baking, visiting friends and other activities. Plan your menus and then make your shopping list. And make sure to line up help for party prep and cleanup.

Learn To Say No. Saying yes when you should say no can leave you feeling resentful and overwhelmed. Friends and colleagues will understand if you can't participate in every project or activity.

Don't let the holidays become something you dread. Instead, take steps to prevent the stress and depression that can descend during the holidays. Learn to recognize your holiday triggers, such as financial pressures or personal demands, so you can combat them before they lead to a meltdown.

EXERCISE ESSENTIALS

NECK STRETCHING

Helps Relieve Neck and Shoulder Tension

Start by sitting up straight in a chair. Gently pull your arm across your body and slightly forward toward your opposite knee. Then, slowly tilt your head away from the direction you are pulling your arm in and feel the stretch in the side of your neck. Repeat 2 sets, 1 rep each.

Always consult your physical therapist or physician before starting exercises you are unsure of doing.
